Shell Commands
(different from Windows command line)

$pwd   - print out the current working directory

$ls   - list the contents of the current working directory (-a, -al, -alt)

$cd <dir name>   - change the current working directory

$cd ..   - navigate the working directory up one folder

$cd ~   - navigate to the user's "home" directory

$mkdir <dir name>   - create a new directory

$rmdir <dir name>   - remove directory

$rm <file name>   - remove file

$explorer .   - opens File Explorer to the current working directory

$<up arrow>   - cycle through previous command

$<tab>   - complete the name, folder, or path being typed

$touch <filename>   - creates a new file in the current working directory (or changes the "date last modified" for an existing file)

$help   - list of commands

$<cmd> --help - detailed help